ASI Disclaimer for Low Risk Virtual Programs

Associated Students, Inc., Cal Poly Pomona (ASI) provides virtual programs, such as lectures, presentations, workshops, demonstrations, and activities (“Virtual Programs”), to provide Cal Poly Pomona students (“Participant”) with engaging opportunities to connect with others and learn through a variety of online platforms. By electing to view this Virtual Program, the Participant acknowledges and agrees that their participation is voluntary and solely at their own risk.

ASI Disclaimer for High Risk Virtual Programs

Participants should consult a physician or other health care professional before starting this or any other physical activity program to determine if it is right for your needs. If you experience faintness, dizziness, pain or shortness of breath at any time while participating in this activity, you should stop immediately. You should not rely on this information as a substitute for, nor does it replace, professional medical advice, diagnosis, or treatment. If you have any concerns or questions about your physical health, you should consult a physician or other health-care professional. Do not disregard, avoid or delay obtaining medical or health related advice from your health-care professional because of something you may have read, saw or heard in this activity. By continuing with this pre-recorded or live session, you agree the use of any information provided in this Virtual Program or your voluntary participation in this activity is solely at your own risk.
