Discussion Items
    A. Elections Committee Introductions

CHAIR: Jacob Reyes, chair, graduate student, public administration program, expectations are to have a safe and fair election
ERIC: 4th year architecture student, helping amy to have an impact with the elections and improve general quality of life and guidelines
STEVE: 3rd year poly sci major, make sure they run smoothly and fairly
A: 4th year AMM major
AD: goal is to support everyone in meeting their expectations for the ASI election

    B. Elections Committee Training

ASI Candidate Code 1.pdf ASI Election Committee Code 1.pdf
A: Can candidates post flyers on bulletin boards in the village?
AD: yes, they can but the village would have to allow all the candidates to do so, the village is considered campus property so as long as they have approval and post on acceptable structures its fine.

    C. Student Voting Incentives

CHAIR: voting incentives should be a thing, could be exciting participating in voting, students need a reason to do something, they need to get something for their efforts incentivize participation
STEVE: how effective have these been in the past compared to when we haven't been doing them?
AD: I don't know that voting has been higher? The voting turnout has been pretty low, so they want to increase it by offering this benefit. We had an increase in the number of candidates so it's part of their strategy. Not sure if in the past this had that much of an effect.
CHAIR: there is a budget for this type of thing so you might as well use it since there's no drawbacks. Might make the elections process more memorable. They like these types of things. Can be expensive anywhere else.
STEVE: I agree I just wanted to see if they had been helpful in the past
ERIC: agree, an idea is the first 100 students that vote can get a discount on something in the future.
CHAIR: make this an action item for our next meeting
