Voter Information
Guide for the 26-27
ASI Student Government

VOTE!

Compiled and Distributed by the
ASI Elections Committee

Dear Voters,

Thank you for taking the time to learn about this year's ASI Elections and the candidates running to represent you.

Your vote matters. The students you elect will serve as your voice and advocates for the coming year, helping shape decisions that affect our campus community. This booklet is designed to give you clear, accessible information about each candidate and their platforms, as well as important details about voting and election events.

To ensure our elections are fair, secure, and unbiased, voting is administered through a third-party platform. If you experience any technical issues or have questions about online voting, please contact the Bronco Leadership Center at arroberts@cpp.edu. They are happy to assist you.

If you have general questions or concerns regarding the election, you may also reach out to the ASI Elections Committee at asielections@cpp.edu.

Thank you for participating in the democratic process and for taking an active role in shaping the future of our campus.

Best wishes,

Josh Guzman

President

Pedro Rosales

Hello, I am Pedro Rosales, a third-year sociology major interested in running for ASI President. My qualifications for this position are my experiences, passion, and a promise to work. For my experiences, I am a founding member and Public Relations and Communications officer in Bat Advocacy and Tracking Society, collaborating with councils, clubs, and ASI itself. I learned how to collaborate within the bureaucracy and student population at this college. Another reason I am running is because of passion, I care about the students of Cal Poly Pomona because I, myself, am one, as well as my friends and this place gave me a community, I want to be a voice and work for their wellbeing. Elaborating on working, I promise to not only to serve the students of Cal Poly Pomona but have the work I do be as effective as possible, previous work I've been awarded for is winning best poster in the 15th Lowell Overton Undergraduate Research Symposium, lead developer on project Detritivore, and I was awarded Presidential Scholarship in 2023. As for goals, me and my running mate, Jack Lamborn, seek greater financial transparency in the Cal Poly Pomona administration, unified accessible informational systems targeted towards commuter students and clubs, and representation for underrepresented social and academic programs.

Vice President

Jack Lamborn

I'm Jack Lamborn, a third-year Environmental Biology major and Political Science minor. In terms of qualifications, I'm a founding member and active organizer of the Bat Advocacy and Tracking Society, a lead developer of Team Detritivore, a student-proposed research project centering on low-cost biogas fuel systems for use in developing nations, a current delegate for CPP's award-winning National Model United Nations team, and a board member of the Reid Gorecki Foundation, a registered 501c(3) nonprofit organization centered around advancing youth mental health through art. While I'd be a newcomer to ASI, I have experience working with the organization through my job at the Care Center and through involvement in various clubs, including BATS, CPP MMA, and more. However, I believe that my most important qualification is my passion and care for CPP's campus, its culture, and its student body. As far as goals go, both I and my running mate, Pedro Rosales, seek greater financial and administrative transparency for students, a streamlined and easy-to-use unified informational system allowing for easy promotion of and access to clubs, organizations, events, and emergency resources, and advocacy for underrepresented groups and programs on campus, both social and academic.

President

Roger Muñiz

What's up Broncos? I'm Roger Muñiz, and I'm running to become your ASI President. I believe student government should be bold, transparent, and relentlessly focused on improving the experience of students at Cal Poly Pomona. As a second-year Biochemistry major deeply involved in student organizations, mentorship, and research, I've seen firsthand how much potential our campus has, and how often students feel disconnected from the resources, opportunities, and decisions that shape their education. As the Founder and President of the STEM Research Association, I've built programs that help students access research labs, navigate faculty relationships, and find their place in academic communities that often feel closed off. My work across multiple research labs, my experience mentoring high school and undergraduate students, and my involvement in campus outreach have taught me how to listen, how to build systems that last, and how to lead with both strategy and empathy. If elected, my priorities are clear: expand access to academic and professional opportunities, strengthen communication between ASI and the student body, and ensure that campus decisions reflect the needs of students, not just the assumptions made about them. I want to empower the clubs and communities that outlast any single administration, empowering students from every college to participate, advocate, and lead. CPP students deserve a government that works as hard as they do. I'm ready to make that happen.

Vice President

Jasmyne Reyes

Hey Broncos! My name is Jasmyne Reyes, and I'm running for ASI Vice President because I want every student at Cal Poly Pomona to feel connected, supported, and seen. I'm a second-year Biochemistry major and a proud first-generation Mexican-American student leader who has dedicated my time at CPP to building community and creating spaces where students can grow and thrive.

I currently serve on the executive board of three student organizations: Vice President of the STEM Research Association, Scheduler for SACNAS, and Publicist for Global Medical Brigades. Through these roles, I've gained experience coordinating teams, communicating across diverse groups, and advocating for student access to opportunities. Whether organizing events, managing schedules, or amplifying student voices, I work to ensure students feel empowered and included.

Beyond student organizations, I work at BioTrek, where I lead educational tours for K–12 students. In this role, I teach the history of Cal Poly Pomona's land and honor it as the homeland of the Tongva people of the San Gabriel Valley. This experience has deepened my commitment to respect, responsibility, and stewardship within our campus community.

As ASI Vice President, I aim to expand student involvement across all colleges, improve transparency in ASI decision-making, and uplift the cultural and academic communities that make CPP unique. CPP deserves leadership that honors its past, serves its present, and invests boldly in its future—and I'm ready to help make that vision real.

President

Alejandra Lopez Sanchez

Hello, my name is Alejandra Lopez Sanchez, and I am a first generation, third year Political Science student.

I come from communities that are often excluded from decision making spaces, and because of that, I care deeply about who has access to power and whose voices are heard. I've made it my goal to be a bold changemaker who challenges the status quo so students are always prioritized.

This commitment led me to serve as ASI Secretary of External Affairs, where I led initiatives focused on student safety and accessibility. I co-authored a resolution and established Know Your Rights materials throughout ASI buildings, offered in multiple languages that reflect the demographics of our campus. These resources ensure that undocumented students and their families can access critical information in the languages they understand.

My passion for public service extends beyond campus. I have worked with organizations that promote immigration justice, increase financial aid literacy, and distributed grants to local communities through legislative offices. These experiences have strengthened my belief that students thrive when they have access to resources, advocacy, and community.

I have organized, mobilized, and advocated to ensure that students are not only heard, but supported through action.

As your ASI President, I will fight for more spaces where students can collaborate and mobilize, prioritize economic mobility, and ensure student voices are central to every decision made. I am honored to run to be your ASI President, and I am ready to lead with courage, compassion, and accountability.

Vice President

Kimora-Aoki Morley

Hello, my name is Kimora-Aoki Morley. I am a first-generation, second-year student majoring in Political Science with a minor in African American Studies. I currently serve as your ASI Officer of Advocacy. I am involved in the Kellogg Honors College and the Panetta Public Policy program; in both, I combine my passion for research and policy. Previously, I was Vice President of a Black Student Union and a voting member on the city commission. These experiences have helped shape the changemaker I am, one who demands accessibility and accountability. I recognize that our generation is experiencing political fatigue at an all-time high, leading to a decline in mobilization and civic interest. When we disengage, we all feel the impact. Interactive education is crucial in amplifying student organizing efforts on campus. As your Vice President, I will advocate for initiatives that prioritize students over profit— such as fighting for free printing access or combating the high-interest charges for parking citations that disproportionately impact first-generation, low-income students on our campus. In this role, I will continue witnessing firsthand the factors that go into campus-wide decision-making. I will build on initiatives and services that improve the student experience at Cal Poly Pomona. I will continue prioritizing transparency in ASI and fostering accessible, intentional events for all students to enjoy. I want to bring my passion, political acumen, and ideas to the forefront. I would be honored to serve our campus community as your ASI Vice President.

Agriculture Senator

Madison Navarro

Hello, my name is Madison Navarro, and I am honored to re-run for Agriculture Senator. As a Third-year Animal Science Pre-Vet major, I have seen firsthand how valuable student organizations and extracurriculars are in shaping our college experience. I am running for this position to advocate for students, increase engagement, and ensure everyone in the College of Agriculture has access to the resources and opportunities that help them succeed. In my current role as Agriculture Senator I have assisted COA clubs request additional budgets from the ASI finance committee, began organizing upcoming events (Spring Beautification), and have continued building relationships with department leaders in the college of agriculture to continue with more transparency with the students. I am hoping to improve in the upcoming year by investigating ways that COA students can be supported through difficulties of class registration among all majors. I also aim to find a form of media that would make campus wide resources and information more accessible to students. Most importantly, I will continue to ensure that these student voices are represented in the spaces I'm involved with in ASI and around campus. I am set on building a stronger, more connected COA, where students feel informed, supported, and empowered. Through the connections I have formed in my experiences all over campus especially in this role, I can connect the COA with more resources, outreach, and greater opportunities, for a lasting impact within the college. I would love the opportunity to represent you again.

Collins College of Hospitality Management
Senator

Kailey Subia

My name is Kailey Subia, and I am running to be your 2026-2027 ASI Collins College of Hospitality Management Senator! I'm currently a sophomore majoring in Hospitality Management.

I'm running for this position because I am passionate about representing Collins College students and strengthening our incredible community. During my time as the 2025-2026 ASI Collins Senator, I gained firsthand experience in advocating for students and collaborating with ASI & Collins leadership and faculty. This role has taught me how vital it is for students to have a voice, motivating me even further to continue serving in this role. I am also heavily involved in the Collins College of Hospitality Management. Working collaboratively with the many clubs we have has helped me strengthen my communication, leadership, and teamwork skills alongside my peers. My goals as the Collins Senator for 2026-2027 are to continue to strengthen the Collins community with student engagement and academic support from ASI, as well as to serve as a strong voice for Collins students. I am committed to using my experience and dedication to be a great student leader here at Cal Poly for 2026-2027.

CLASS Senator

Jade Centeno

My name is Jade Centeno, and I am proud to be a first-generation student at Cal Poly Pomona. My parents immigrated from Nicaragua, and through their sacrifices they instilled in me the values of hard work, dedication, and above all, education. Their example motivates me to pursue higher education not only for personal growth, but also to enrich the lives of my community. As a political science student, my academic journey is guided by a clear vision: to graduate and continue my education in law school, specializing in immigration law. I am deeply passionate about serving my community, particularly the Hispanic community, by providing legal representation and advocating for those whose voices are often unheard. My commitment to this path reflects both my heritage and my desire to create meaningful change.

I believe I am qualified to represent CLASS as a senator because of my academic background and my extensive involvement in community service and public works. Last academic year, I was appointed as the ASI Officer of Public Relations. In this role, I gained valuable insight into the inner workings of student government, learning how to effectively communicate, collaborate, and advocate for students. This experience has prepared me to take on greater responsibilities and to represent CLASS with integrity and dedication. Serving as senator would allow me to bring my experiences, values, and passion for advocacy into student leadership. I am eager to continue growing while ensuring that the needs of my peers and community are represented with fairness and commitment.

CLASS Senator

Ruth Rocha

What's up y'all! My name is Ruth Rocha and I am running for C.L.A.S.S. Senator! I am currently a Junior in Political Science(and also a proud transfer student). I would be honored to run for this position because I believe in true representation that reflects our student population not only as students, but as humans. I started college not knowing what I wanted to major in or even do, I wasn't sure if college was for me. I was able to get support from support programs, mentors, advisors, but most importantly other students. Do you guys remember that student that told you where you could pick up free groceries on campus, or the student that told you how to make friends at the bric, or showed you how to make that first appointment with your advisor, I want to be that kind of student for the student population as a whole. I have prior experience in student government where I served on the Academic Affairs committee at my community college. We curated a number of events to help our students succeed by connecting them with on campus resources. I have also served on various club boards and am currently the Social Chair for EOP Student Union! I was an orientation leader at my community college because I have a passion for being involved. I meet with elected officials to learn more about my community and volunteer. I enjoy meeting new students on the daily, say hi!

Engineering Senator

Zara Garcia

Apart from teaching us how to address issues, engineering has taught us how to recognize when a system needs change. I am running for Engineering Senator this coming term to support the growth of CPP's engineering community. As problem solvers by nature, engineering students deserve a system where our voices are heard, meaningfully represented, and driven into action. As a senior Civil Engineering student with a Finance minor, I approach problems utilizing both technical expertise and intentional strategy. My experience working on large-scale infrastructure projects, supporting research labs, and collaborating amongst teams has shown me that prioritizing organization, communication, and engagement leads to meaningful results. Through my involvement with Engineers Without Borders, the Society of Hispanic Professional Engineers, and Chi Omega, I have advocated for various student concerns, managed responsibilities despite pressure, and worked purposefully to create an inclusive environment for our community. What motivates me is service with a purpose. I do not believe that leadership is solely about the titles. It requires showing up, listening, and following through. As an Engineering Senator, I will be a proactive advocate for academic support, accessible resources, and professional opportunities that aid engineering students to succeed in and out of the classroom. None of us stepped into engineering because it was easy, but I am determined to stay because I believe in building a system that serves the people.

Engineering Senator

Joseph Paiva

My name is Joseph Paiva a 3rd year in electrical engineer; As a candidate for Engineering senator I am seeking this position because I am committed to the ideal of strengthening the academic and professional experience here at CPP. My goal is to hear the students and expand the resources and opportunities available for them.

As president of my fraternity I have extensive leadership experience managing teams, organizing events, and fostering an environment dedicated to the success of all of their endeavors. I plan to bring that same dedication to the college of engineering that I brought to my fraternity.

If elected I advocate to increase academic support services, stronger industry partnerships, and more involvement opportunities across all engineering disciplines.

I am excited for the opportunity to serve and make a meaningful impact on our engineering community.

Engineering Senator

Max Junior Ngomsì Kouna

I am running for Engineering Senator because I want to be a strong and genuine voice for engineering students, especially transfer students who often face unique challenges. As a transfer student to Cal Poly Pomona, I have experienced firsthand the difficulties of adjusting to a new campus, navigating a major change, and finding a sense of belonging. These experiences have shaped my resilience, adaptability, and passion for student advocacy. Since coming to CPP, I have been actively involved in multiple clubs and organizations, allowing me to connect with students from diverse backgrounds and better understand their concerns. I make it a priority to listen, communicate, and collaborate with both students and campus leaders. My leadership background extends beyond CPP—I was a student leader at Chaffey College and karate captain for many years, where I developed discipline, accountability, teamwork, and the confidence to lead under pressure. As Engineering Senator, my goal is to improve communication between engineering students and ASI, advocate for academic and professional resources, and ensure that student voices are heard in decisions that impact us. I am committed to representing our college with integrity, empathy, and dedication while working to create a more supportive and inclusive environment for all engineering students. Thank you,

Engineering Senator

Yusuf Sadiq

My name is Yusuf Sadiq, and I am running for Engineering Senator. I am an electrical engineering major entering my senior year. I am seeking this position because engineering students at Cal Poly Pomona face persistent challenges that deserve stronger representation and real solutions. Many of us struggle with limited class section availability, long waitlists, and restricted access to ethical career opportunities, all while managing the stress of engineering coursework. These issues delay graduation, limit professional growth and place unnecessary burdens on students. As the engineering senator, I will work with departments to address bottlenecked classes, and push for greater transparency in budgeting and increased student input in projects. I aim to help expand engineering job fairs, improve access to internships, professional development opportunities and diversify research opportunities on campus so students are better prepared before graduation.

Through my work, a non-profit charity, I have coordinated events, managed volunteers, overseen resource distribution, and supported international aid efforts. I have developed the skills to advocate effectively, manage limited resources and deliver results. Skills I will use to fight for you!

My goal is to ensure engineering students are heard, supported and equipped to succeed.

CEIS Senator

Destiny Vasquez

Hi my name is Destiny Vasquez and I am running for CEIS Senator. I am a Liberal Studies Pre-Credential major and this is my 1st year here at CPP but I'm a transfer student from Riverside City College. I want to run for CEIS Senator because I want to help others understand why education matters and how we can show up for one another within it. As a student in the college of Education, I see education as a personal responsibility and a public service, that thrives only when students feel supported, represented, and connected to their community. These beliefs are what drive my interest in serving as CEIS Senator. Building a strong community is key to building student success. I would listen to my peers, strengthen connections within the valley, and help create an inclusive environment. I believe building awareness is a key part of effective representation. Many students are unaware of the resources available to them. I would provide clear communication and transparency so students understand their opportunities, feel informed, and know their voices matter. These are my reason to why I would make a great candidate for CEIS Senator and hope to earn your trust and support.

Environmental Design Senator

Jeremiah Scott

How's it going CPP! I'm Jeremiah Scott, and I will be running to be your Environmental Design Senator. I'm determined to make a stronger relationship and experience between ASI and the ENV Student Body. I believe that it's in the people's best interest to help make the university atmosphere inclusive, transparent, and ultimately, more functional. As a 2nd-year Urban & Regional Planning major, cemented in ethics and organization, I believe that we can turn that into reality! My work as the Co-Founder of STEM Research Association, I've helped collect and share vital information for students making their way into a potential career in research. The most important part of all of that was taking action and finding opportunities for others to thrive, especially in unfamiliar situations.

If elected, I will prioritize the relationship between ASI and ENV, ensuring effective communication. I am keen to empower the ENV student council and the various clubs to work together to share ideas and solve problems when they arise, to make an inclusive and cohesive environment that everyone can benefit from. Unity will be our best trait, and I believe that we can make that happen.

Science Senator

Lily Kang

Hello, my name is Lily Kang and I hope to serve as a Science Senator for the 2026-2027 academic year. I am a second year biochemistry student and my ultimate career goal is to become a psychiatrist and make an attempt to help people struggling with mental illness and learning disabilities, as I've watched people I love go through such difficulties. I am running for this position because I want to create a comfortable and supportive space for students affected by immigration related stress and uncertainty. As someone who lived in different countries throughout my life, I can relate to the struggle.

Furthermore, I want to create a strong academic support system. STEM majors are considered to be one of the most academically rigorous majors. As a current Science Senator for the 2025-2026 academic term, I am working on building a STEM specific tutoring center because I understand the big difference effective tutoring system could make on one's understanding in the course material. Moreover, I hope to provide real opportunities by pushing fair access to research by publicizing lab openings and creating transparent pathways for ALL students to join labs and get mentorship that leads to REAL JOBS and internship opportunities. I am confident in my qualifications since I have won two national Model United Nations awards, where I developed diplomatic skills that translate directly to student advocacy. I learned how to negotiate and communicate for peoples' needs and building trust and finding common ground. Thank you for reading my personal statement and taking your time to consider me. With gratitude, Lily Kang.

Science Senator

Tomi J. Lessis

I'm running for Science Senator because I care about what happens in the College of Science, I care about what students have to say, and I'm not afraid to speak up about it. I've been a Science Council rep, I'm involved in research and multiple clubs, and I've seen students get ignored when they shouldn't be.

If I am elected, I want to make it easier for science students to be heard, increase access to resources and tutoring, and make sure nobody gets left out of decisions that affect us. I don't plan on sitting quietly doing nothing productive. I will show up, do the work, and push for real improvements that make life at CPP better.

Multi-Cultural Council

Amy Lee

Hi Broncos! My name is Amy Lee, and I am running for Multi-Cultural Council Senator. I am a third-year student majoring in Animal Science. I currently sit on multiple school committees and serve as the outreach director of STEM Research Association. As a child from an immigrant family and a first-generation student, I understand the importance of support when navigating new culture and education system. I want to connect with students and represent pride in CPP's multicultural community. Multicultural student body and programs such as TREE, MSA, Hillel, Barkada, VSA, MASA, SLISA, Soon Movement, and NSU, inspire me to deepen my cultural awareness. As someone who was an international student, I want to help as you go through an unfamiliar environment, whether it is a different country or institution. Environment where everyone's voice is protected is needed to encourage more collaboration and create safe boundaries. I have skills and experience to represent and advocate for students effectively. I have been part of amazing multicultural clubs and programs. By talking to many students in those clubs, I noticed that improvements in the dining service system are needed for students with cultural or religious restrictions, such as halal, kosher and vegan. I am working with BSC, school dietitians, and managers to make food accessible for everyone. I will build further connections with students from different backgrounds as I speak English, Korean, and Spanish. I will guarantee every voice gets heard and advocate for meaningful and equitable initiatives.

Resident Student Association Council

Ian Perez

I'm Ian Perez, a first-year Master of Architecture student, and I'm running for RSA Senator At-Large to continue the work I've done in making residential life more transparent, responsive, and student-driven. As a campus resident for the past three years, I've seen how important it is for students to have a voice in the decisions that shape our daily lives.

I've served as RSA Media Coordinator, leading outreach through flyers, event photography, and collaboration with staff, and as ASI Officer of Sustainability, where I chaired the Sustainability Committee and worked to make The Green Initiative Fund more accessible.

Over the past year, I've represented residents on the Facilities and Operations and Basic Needs committees and served as a voting member of the ASI Board. I helped organize open forums to connect residents directly with campus leadership, launched housing transparency panels, and worked with dining services to create feedback forums and advocate for more inclusive dining, prioritizing clearer food labeling, incorporating resident menu recommendations, and supporting further collaboration with dining for students living in dorms.

I'm also proud to have helped bring the Zipcar program to campus and plan to advocate for its expansion.

If re-elected, I'll continue working to make sure resident voices are not only heard but actively reflected in the decisions that shape our campus experience. Advocacy and transparency have always been my top priorities, and I'm committed to serving residents fully, making the campus feel more like a place students can truly call home.

Student Interest Council

Alyssa Surendranath

Hello Broncos, my name is Alyssa Surendranath, and I am a third-year English Education major running for the position of Senator-At-Large, Student Interest Council (SIC). As your current SIC Senator, I am eager to continue the initiatives I have started and to further support our student organizations. I recognize that funding can be a significant challenge for clubs on campus. My goal is to leverage CPP resources, particularly through Registered Student Organization (RSO) proposals, to help clubs secure up to an additional $10,000 in funding. By utilizing this resource, I aim to alleviate financial strain and help both new and existing clubs manage their budgets more effectively. Additionally, I serve on the ASI Sustainability Committee, where

I am developing a project for a sustainable rental service for club decorations. This initiative will assist clubs with limited budgets, allowing them to create engaging events without overspending while promoting environmentally friendly practices. I am also committed to enhancing community engagement and accessibility. I plan to utilize social media platforms to share crucial council updates and highlight the diverse range of clubs within the SIC. By spotlighting different clubs, we can foster a greater sense of belonging and encourage participation across our campus community. Thank you for considering my candidacy. Together, we can strengthen our clubs and create a vibrant, interconnected student experience.

Greek Senator

Sahil Hotchandani

Hello CPP! My name is Sahil Hotchandani, and I am running to be your Senator-at-large for the Greek Council. I am a second-year Mechanical Engineering student pursuing a minor in Business, and I am committed to strengthening the role of Greek Life on our campus. Halfway through the current term, I stepped up to take this same position through the current term when the seat was vacant because I felt that it was critical to have a dedicated representative for Greek Life within our student government. In the short time I have held this office, I have gained experience and confidence in working with both ASI and the Greek Council leadership. It has also reinforced my commitment to advocating for the needs, interests, and fair treatment of all our organizations. If you elect me to continue to serve as Greek Senator, I will use my experience within this position and other leadership roles I have had to ensure that the Greek population has a voice in our campus. I will work closely with the Greek Council executives and ASI to guarantee the success and growth of Greek organizations on campus, and to help strengthen our presence as a unified community. I am committed to representing the Greek community with passion, accountability, and professionalism. With the support of our community, I will continue working to ensure that all Greek organizations on campus are respected and empowered to have a voice within our community.
